LANDLADY TELLS HOW SNOOK RENTED "LOVE NEST"

EDISON OVERLOOKED ASKING BOYS ABOUT TITIAN FILM STAR

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 3.—The Zep is coming back over, and if it has a stowaway on it, it's going to ruin my whole week.

There is three or four things that the government ought to take drastic means to exterminate, the Mediterranean fly, the boll weevil, female radio torch singers, and the stowaways. In fact the stowaway stuns him away should be stowed away for good.

Seattle boy is smartest in America. Connecticut, second, Pittsburgh third, Santa Fe, N. Mex., fourth, and Indiana fifth. Where is your Boston, your New York, your Claremore, Okla? Beverly Hills had an entry, but as there was no questions about Clara Bow, why he didn't get anywhere.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New wonders what has happened to the program of collection of cans which is regarded as part of the work of the garbage department. There should be some regular routine of can collection that is known to the residents of the city, and cans should be lifted regularly.

The rain of today was badly needed, following the long dry spell. The hot weather of the past few weeks gave the farmers opportunity to harvest wheat and hay.

Dry raids made across the Ohio state line came as a surprise to the community, and also to some of the local population who are wont to visit across the line now and then. The federal clean-up is the first extensive raid in Campbell for a long time.

Pa New expects to be off the job for the next two weeks, but the Young Pa News will be in action, and the observations will appear as usual.

John Stritzinger of W. Washburn avenue writes to The News he has a huge sunflower stock. The stalk measures 12 feet and 6 inches tall. The plant is not yet in bloom.

The new women's dormitory at Pennsylvania State college is to be dedicated in the very near future. Lawrence county granges, by the way, donated quite a bit of money for this project by the state grange.

Camping season is nearly over and before we know it will be on our heels and spats. The Boy Scout camp has another period, and the Y. M. C. A. camp closes its official season early the coming week.

Up at The Castleton, workmen are hammering and sawing away like good fellows. There is quite a bit of remodeling being done by the new store room which is to be in the left front wing of the building. Both basement and ground floor in that wing will be utilized as a store room.

Building owners with some extra spending money should take a peek at the building on Mill street and also the one on Washington which have been, let us say, rejuvenated. One has been washed and the other sand-

Dr. Snook Posed As Salt Salesman Declares Witness

Landlady Testifies As To Renting Of Columbus "Love Nest"

SAYS HE POSED AS NEWARK RESIDENT

Middle-Aged Woman Is Chief Witness In Murder Case This Morning

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 3.—Dr. James H. Snook, dignified college professor, posed as "Howard Snook, salt salesman of Newark, Ohio" when he rented a "love nest" for Miss Theora Hix, the pretty young co-ed, for whose murder he is on trial for his life. This testimony was given today by Mrs. Margaret Smalley, proprietor of an apartment house.

Mrs. Smalley, a middle-aged woman attired in black and white checked dress and a black hat, repeatedly referred to the defendant as "Howard Snook," she was asked to identify Snook.

"Identifies Snook"
"There he is," she said, pointing to Dr. Snook who was telling comfortably in a gaudy-colored beach chair which has been provided for him because he has been indisposed. He regarded her indolently as she identified him, his "Poker Face" remaining inscrutable.

Mrs. Smalley answered questions without hesitation. She was questioned by assistant prosecutor Paul C. Hicks.

"When did you first meet the defendant?" Hicks asked.
"On February 11th last. He came to my place on Hubbard avenue and said he wanted to rent a room," Mrs. Smalley related.

"Did he tell you what was his occupation?" Hicks asked.

"He said he was a salt salesman from Newark, and that he demonstrated," replied Mrs. Smalley. "He didn't say anything about being married on that occasion. He told me his name was Howard Snook. Later when the young woman moved into the room, he told me she also demonstrated."

"Were Nice People"
Mrs. Smalley said Theora and Snook were "nice people and well behaved." (Continued On Page Five)

Reports Hold-up On Taylor Street

Voit Says Trio Robbed Him Of $141 Last Night

A call was received last night by the police, shortly after eleven o'clock, to the effect that Carl Voit, 1023 Glen avenue, had been attacked and robbed by three young men on Taylor street at the old "dinky track."

Lieutenant Hillers, Detective John Young and Officers Thompson and Richards answered the call but were unable to locate the alleged assailants of Mr. Voit.

According to Mr. Voit's story, he had been walking on East Lutton street, up South Mill street to Taylor street and when he reached the dinky track on that street, that he had been attacked by three young men. One of them held him around the waist, while the others went into his right pants pocket and took $141 or $142 in one, five and ten dollar bills. Mr. Voit was unable to give a very good description of his alleged assailants and this handicapped the officers in their search.

Seeking Legislation To Correct Crowded Condition In Prisons

Believe Building Of Two "Dope Farms" Would Tend To Relieve Situation

Recent Riots In Federal Prisons Causes Action On Part Of Officials

By WILLIAM S. NEAL,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—Legislation providing for removal of all narcotic addicts from the present federal prisons to special institutions will be proposed in a sweeping reorganization of the federal prison system as an aftermath of the Leavenworth riot. With reports to Sanford Bates, superintendent of federal prisons, indicating that "dope" addicts whose already shaken nervous systems were demoralized by extreme heat were primarily responsible for the riot, backers of the separation movement planned to carry on their campaign in Congress with renewed energy.

Two "Dope Farms"
Although Congress has authorized the building of two "dope farms," these will be insufficient to relieve the already overcrowded federal prisons of all the drug addicts, it was said (Continued On Page Two)

Farmers Satisfied With Tariff Rates

Senate Finance Committee Says American Farmer Is Gratiified By Protective Rates

Senator Smoot Takes New Rates To President Hoover For Official Approval

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—While awaiting public reaction to the proposed "sliding scale" of sugar tariffs, Republican members of the senate finance committee today declared the American farmer would be completely satisfied with the tariff protection allotted to farm products.

Senator Reed Smoot (R) of Utah, chairman, meanwhile took the agricultural schedule, his new "sliding scale" of sugar duties and other proposed rates to the Blue Ridge fishing camp of President Hoover for executive approval.

High Rates Approved
Another batch of agricultural duties, as fixed by the senate Republicans was obtained today by International News Service. They indicated the high house rates on farm products, especially in fruits, were being approved by the senate Republicans.

A partial list showed increased duties were placed on dried cherries, fruit peels, figs, lemons, limes, ripe olives, pineapples, pears, jellies, jams, marmalades, fruit butters, almonds, flaxseed, onions, potatoes, turnips, hay and straw. Decisions on peas, mushrooms and tomatoes were postponed. Rates on grapefruit and peapods, raised by the house, were reduced by the senate Republicans.

The proposed sugar rates, however, attracted more attention in the capital. Senator F. M. Simmons (D) of N. C., the minority finance leader, immediately announced they did not please him—which was considered tantamount to a Democratic declaration of war against the Smoot schedule. Simmons said: "It is no improvement to the consumer from the house bill."

Defends Schedule
Smoot defended the proposed schedule as designed to "stabilize the sugar market."

He declared the revenue raised by his scale would be "about the same as existing law."
"The average price of sugar in a highly fluctuating market, has been about $6.30 per hundred pounds during the last five years," said Smoot. "This scale was designed to hold sugar prices, wholesale, at $6 per hundred pounds. The price at that level to consumers will be only a fraction more—and undoubtedly less than has been paid on the average in the last five years."

Brutal Attack On Aged Officer Made By Youth

Thomas Newell, Chief Of Park Police Is Beaten By Anthony Mooney

ATTACK OCCURS ON WASHINGTON STREET

Mooney Under Arrest And Held For September Term Of Court

Anthony Mooney, one of the best known young athletes of the city, employed as a truck driver, is in the county jail, charged with aggravated assault and battery, by John Rentz, member of the Cascade Park police force as a result of his brutal attack on Thomas Newell, chief of the park police, a man well past seventy years of age. The assault of Newell took place on West Washington street in front of the Norris Block, Friday afternoon.

According to the information secured in the case, Mr. Newell was walking along Washington street, when young Mooney also came along in the truck he was driving. Because of alleged ill-feeling occasioned by Chief Newell compelling him to observe the regulations in getting past a chain across the road leading into the picnic grove at some time previous, Mooney it is declared, stopped his truck and rushing to Chief Newell struck him and knocked him down, causing Mr. Newell's left arm to be badly broken at the wrist, his nose and face severely injured and other minor injuries.

Mooney then jumped on his truck and drove away. John Rentz of the park police, went before Alderman Walter T. Hamilton and made a charge of aggravated assault and battery. Securing a warrant, this officer then went to the Rick-McJunkin plant, where he found Mooney hiding, and arrested him.

When Mooney was taken before Alderman Hamilton, he entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was held for the September term of court.

In default of bail at that time, he was remanded to the county jail to await disposition of his case. Efforts are being made to get him out on bail.

Mr. Newell is reported to be doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances and in view of his advanced age.

Four Gunmen Escape After Making Raid On Pittsburgh Game

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—Four gunmen today had made good their escape with between $15,000 and $20,000 in cash and jewelry taken from a dice game in the Strip late yesterday. Police learned little because of the unwillingness of the victims to talk.

The four men descended on the game while it was in full blast with heavy bets being placed and a large amount of money on the table. It was learned. The game was being played in an old shanty with a concrete floor between the Oil Well Supply company and the old Pittsburgh Railways company power house. There was only one entrance to the shack.

The pop boy whose duty it was to obtain refreshments for the players was just emerging from the single door when he was backed into the shack by two armed, unmasked men. Two others followed and the four burst into the group of prominent merchants and the elite of the city's gambling fraternity who were grouped about the game.

Quickly a collection of money, jewelry and guns was taken up under the muzzles of the bandits' revolvers. "We'll treat you right" one bandit assured the gamblers who had been ordered to doff their pants and shoes. The garments were thrown into a pile in the corner of the room as the four holdup men backed cautiously out.

The pop boy was the only one in the group who did not suffer. As the bandits left one of them shoved a small roll of bills into the boy's hand.

Fog Forces Naval Balloon To Descend

(International News Service)
LEWISTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—Two naval officers attached to Brown Field Quantico marine base, Quantico, Va., landed at McVeytown near here early today in a United States naval observation balloon following a test flight that ended when fog and poor visibility caused the flyers to descend.

The officers whose names could not be learned deflated the big bag on a farm near McVeytown, 12 miles from here and immediately left by train for Quantico. The balloon was not damaged in landing and was shipped back to Brown field.

The balloons left Brown Field at 5:45 p. m. Friday evening and came to earth at 7:15 a. m. today.

Infant Beheaded By Fast Train As Companions Flee

Infant Abandoned On Railroad Tracks Suffers Death Under Wheels Of Train

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—Deserted on the tracks in front of an onrushing train by the older children, who had been watching him, Theodore Rupinski, 15-month-old, of Peter's Crossing, was beheaded by a fast Baltimore and Ohio train, according to a report to police today.

The children had been playing on the tracks, according to witnesses. As the train approached they became frightened and ran away. The child was left in the path of the locomotive. The train crew made frantic efforts to stop, but it was useless. The body was identified several hours later at an undertaking establishment in McKeesport.

Thomas A. Edison, Henry Ford, Col. Charles Lindbergh, George Eastman, and Dr. S. W. Stratton of M. I. T. prepared the questions, and they were posers-designed to select the "boy who shows the most promise of becoming Edison's successor."

Arthur Mometer

When the winter winds blow your shivers start, and the frost is as thick as mud, and the streets are slushy and you're not surprised if you gather yourself a cold. And you rather expect to be sneezing some, and your doctor puts out a smile, but colds are sport for the winter months and they are not due for a while. But due or not there's a heap of folks who snuffle and snort just now, including me, for I have a cold, and you have my word it's a woe. It's a funny time to be getting a cold, when the weather has been so fine, but here it is, here you got yours yet, the weather is sixty-nine.

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Soaring prices for New York City Gas and Electric stocks, Electrical Manufacturing stocks and a late rally in the Motor and Copper shares, were the principal features of the week-end market. Buying of the New York City Gas and Electric stocks, at rapidly advancing prices, foreshadowed the success of rumored plans for consolidating the plans and properties of these plants. Westinghouse jumped into the limelight, taking the play from General Electric in its spectacular 16-point climb to 23. Brooklyn Union Gas pumped about 12 points to 237 and consolidated gas to 162. Laclede Gas continued its sensational rise, with a new 16-point rise to 323. United States Steel, American Tel. and Tel. and other favorites of the week past, were held back by profit-taking. General Electric started the day 4 points lower but forged ahead in the final period and closed at 293 3-4.

Motor Stocks Up
Motor stocks disclosed the shorts in their final profit and sold at the highest prices of the week. Nash was a leader, with its 4-point rise to 90 1-4. But Smith with employees at the plant had the blaze almost extinguished by the time the firemen arrived on the scene, and the fire was finally quenched by the use of a small chemical tank. The damage was slight.

Prisons Are Crowded

Figures of the bureau of prisons, made public today, showed that approximately 8,475 prisoners are confined in three prisons designed to hold 4,737 prisoners, with the prison population growing at a rapid rate.

The Atlanta federal prison has 3,780 prisoners with a normal capacity of 1,712. Leavenworth has 3,770 with a normal capacity of about 2,000, and McNeil Island has about 925 prisoners and could house a hundred more. The United States industrial reformatory at Chillicothe, O., and the woman's prison at Alderson, W. Va., are rapidly filling up.

Doubling up of prisoners in one cell, sleeping in dark and ill-ventilated basements and corridors, and improvised dormitories, all have resulted from overcrowding, according to the report of the House committee. Federal prison officials admit the possibility of further outbreaks until conditions are remedied.

Revival Services To Continue At Gospel Centre

Mrs. Gertrude Och To Preach Each Evening Next Week In This City

The young lady evangelist, Mrs. Gertrude Och, will preach again tonight. Sunday evening and every evening next week, with the exception of Monday at the Gospel Centre revival meetings.

Mrs. Och has won her way in the hearts of many people, during the past week, by her inspiring Gospel messages. She used for her text Mt. 22, "What shall I do then with Jesus, which is called the Christ?" This is the greatest question that confronts humanity today. The question involves a decision on the part of every individual, which decision, determines one's future course of action, and settles one's future destiny.

Again last night, E. J. Berquist led the congregation in a happy song service, with Miss Mable Hutchinson at the piano. The Rev. W. C. Tyrell, pastor of the Plymouth Methodist church, led in prayer.

A fine program in music is being arranged for the coming week, at each service. Mrs. Och will have a timely message for Sunday evening. She will also sing, using her guitar.

The Gospel Centre, is located two blocks from Washington, on South Mercer. To these services, which is interdenominational, every one is invited. Services begin at 8 o'clock.

STAR LORE

AND OUR WORLD IS A PLANET, TOO

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter
After astronomy had begun to develop into a science, the earth was not regarded as one of the planets. It was not until the heliocentric theory of the solar system became established that man viewed the earth as taking its place among the planets with an annual orbit of its own. But since Copernicus, the earth has dropped out of its distinctive place assigned it by the pride of man, as the center of the universe, and is but one of eight splendid worlds of the solar group. If the earth could be seen from Venus, it would look six times as bright as that planet.

Going Through Montana.
Sheep and Mountains.
Copper and Gold.
Hearst's Profitable Ride.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1929, King Features
Syn. Inc.)

BUTTE, Mont., Aug. 2.—Yesterday on the St. Paul line I spent going hundreds of miles through the state of Montana. Senator Walsh's state. There is plenty of room left in the United States. You could hide the population of the earth in the Rocky Mountains, over which this electric engine climbed and they would have plenty of room.
Through the northern plains of Montana you climb past round foot-hills up to the top of the Rocky Mountains, and for 40 minutes down the other side to Butte, the state's greatest pocketbook.

Eight big farms financed by the wisdom and money of John D. Rockefeller are making experiments in this state to decide the best use of its 90,000,000 acres and the right size for farms.
The state college runs one farm of 3,000 acres. Private individuals run the others, and will pay for them in crop proceeds.

M. L. Wilson, Montana's agricultural economist on the 3,000-acre farm, experiments with machinery to make industrialists of farmers. With one giant tractor he pulls a "duck foot" cultivator, cultivating a strip 60 feet wide. In an hour that apparatus can cultivate a strip of land 20,000 feet long, 60 feet wide. "Duck foot," so called because the blades look like a duck's feet, pointing toward each other, runs four inches below the wheat stubble, killing weeds that rob the soil of its moisture. The stubble left standing protects the soil from high winds that would blow it away in dust, and from occasional heavy rains that would "puddle" it.

M. L. Wilson is in Russia now, showing that government how to use machinery in place of men and make farms pay, and on his model 3,000-acre farm at Great Falls, Mont., eight young Russians are studying agricultural machinery at work. Thence they go to study machinery in the factory of the International Harvester Company. The intelligent concern that brought them over here to promote business with Russia.

E. W. Hall, agricultural supervisor for the St. Paul road, tells you about hardy Norwegian sheep men who graze on the hills of Montana. In South Mussel valley they raise fodder for use in the bitter winter. In spring and autumn their great hands of sleep and a few cattle feed in the foothills. In hot summer they are driven to high government forest preserves to graze and browse, paying the government a few cents a head for each month. They are happy knowing no more about death than we do.
One man can herd 2,000 sheep in the open, 1,000 in the forest. Twenty-five shearers work with power from one machine.

Before you reach Butte you ride up the Rockies to the continent's stony backbone, where a pull of water correctly spilled flows half toward the Atlantic and half toward the Pacific. Sitting at the front of the electric locomotive, the engineer, L. J. McCormick, climbs a hill 2,000 feet high, 20 miles long, in one hour, hauling a load of 8,000,000 pounds. Think that over. He looks up two copper mines, each smaller than your little finger. They feed him power to lift the 8,000,000 pounds.

That makes you respect electricity. Mr. Ryan, head of the Anaconda Copper Company, gets that electric power from waterfalls off in the mountains and sells it to the St. Paul Railway.

The heavy train on its way downhill manufactures electricity, as a waterfall manufactures it, by power of gravity. The current thus manufactured is pumped back into Mr. Ryan's wires and he makes deductions on the electric power bill that he sends to Mr. Scandrett, head of the St. Paul. All businesslike and amazing.

Butte is a city that you should see. Many years ago, before there was any city or railroad, the late Senator George Hearst came riding up here on horseback. He had an eye for mining properties and thought the Anaconda mine, located here, would be worth while. He was right, and it produces now about 300,000,000 pounds of copper a year, plus 175,000 pounds of zinc, employing 15,000 metal miners.

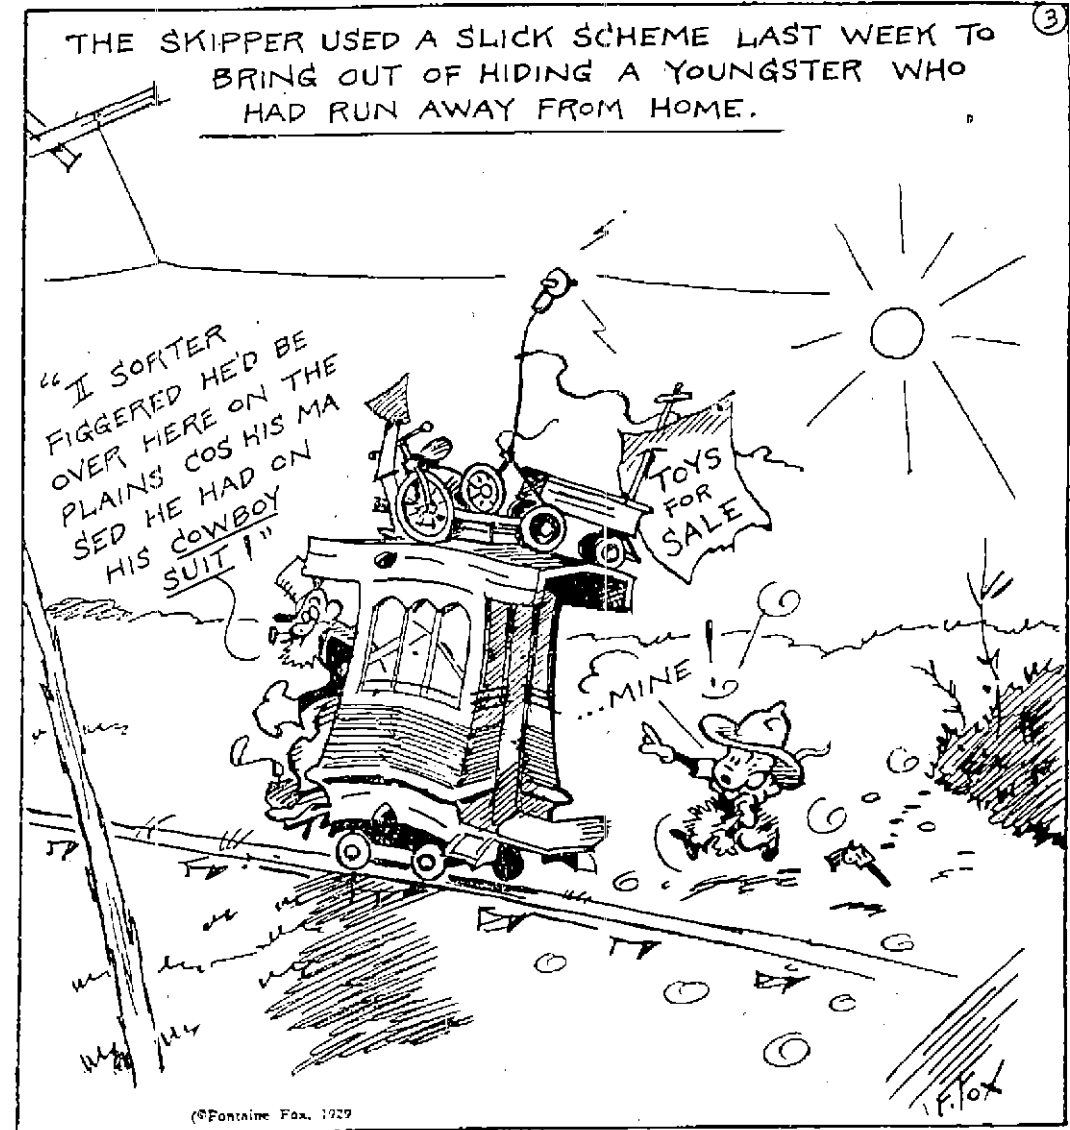

The Anaconda smelter, tallest in the world, 585 feet high, captures by-products as they sail upward. Among other things, the smelterstack yields annually 230 carloads of arsenic. The St. Paul uses some of it. It produces on its right-of-way, to kill weeds. You use some, perhaps, to kill rats and mice.

From the Anaconda smelter near here the copper is sent to Great Falls, 125 miles away, where it is refined. Each ton yields 60 ounces of silver, four-tenths of an ounce of gold. It's a good mine. The mine is 3,600 feet deep shaft. It is proved that the marvelous copper mass goes down at least 5,000 feet. What other wealth is hidden under these hills, you might come out and see.

That was a profitable ride that George Hearst took. California took through the Rocky Mountains more than half a century ago. There are never been worked. You might find one. See this country. Come West. It's worth it.

Views Vigorously Expressed As To Inquiry On Army Expense

Widely Divergent Conclusions Are Reached By Public In Considering Present Expenditures For The Military Arm

Plans that seem to foreshadow an attempt at cutting the army's budget have brought forth widely varying comment. To some, present day armament is "a travesty on intelligence," to others any program but "keeping our powder dry" is suicidal. The statement upon which the controversy is based explains that the President's commission is "to recon- sider our whole Army program, to see what services and other outlays have become obsolete through advancement of science and war methods, and what development programs can be well spread over longer periods in view of the general world outlook, and at the same time maintain completely adequate preparedness; such an investigation to be constructive and not destructive."

Calling attention to the President's statement that we are the largest military budget among the nations, the NEW YORK WORLD states that this fact "is enough in itself to back up the President powerfully for his position among the nations we are the least in actual need of such a budget. This is not the way to face toward enduring peace or lead the world toward enduring peace."

CLYDE REPUBLICAN considers "President Hoover cannot be praised too highly for his wise and courageous demand for an immediate reduction of the military and naval budgets," but it also thinks "there will be howls aplenty before Mr. Hoover puts through his program."

"Ineffaceable experiences from those of Washington in the great Revolution down to the Wilson mobilization," the ATLANTA CONSTITUTION replies to this argument, "warn thinking Americans to use the common prudence of keeping their powder dry and their gun in easy reach. Millions of veterans and more millions of taxpayers will combine to impress upon Congress that they see more defense than in the mere saving of dollars by reducing the army to absurd and perilous proportions."

"The president's announcement, which was generally a surprise," according to the MORGANTOWN NEW DOMINION, "provoked a wave of reactions. The army and navy officers protested that they are now cut to the bone. The cynical statesmen and editors characterized the announcement as a mere gesture, impossible of accomplishment, especially in view of the unwillingness of Congress to stint the army or navy. On the other hand, the President looks on the curbing of military cost as one essential in his general peace program and in this he is consistent," declares "The New Dominion."

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

Thirty-fifth installment of a Diary kept by Lawrence Wilson of San Diego, California, upon his visit to Russia in 1923, published exclusively in The New Castle News.

FLAMING ZEALOTS

August 13, 1928.
Out on the outskirts of Moscow is the venerable old Donoskoi monastery. It rests peacefully within an enclosure which is surrounded by a high embattled wall, bearing the scars of many a conflict during more than three centuries ago to the recent Revolution. The massive red walls with the powerful round corner turrets testify to the first-like nature of the old monastery when it was the outpost on the roads leading from the southern steppes. There is a burying ground here in which many of the old Moscow for many generations have been laid. The grave of recent interest is that of the Patriarch Tikhon. This old warrior for the faith stood out to the last like Horatius at the bridge, until he was finally cut down at his post, maintaining to the end against the Bolsheviks what he considered to be his priestly prerogatives. We came away from this monastery as we have from so many other places in Russia, dazed by the strange incongruous mingling of things new and old.

State Capitol Threatened By Smoke Nuisance

Sooty Sentiment Covers
Homes and Furnishings.
Housewives Up In Arms

By CLYDE SHUE
International News Service Staff
Correspondent
HARRISBURG, Aug. 3.—In the city of Harrisburg, famed for its imposing capitol buildings, threatened with the deserved appellation of the "Smoky City."

Up in arms over the insidious invasion of a sooty sediment that covers furniture, walls and floors, Harrisburg housewives are flooding news-paper offices here with complaints regarding the alleged nuisance and are asking for guidance as to what action they can take to repel the dust foe.

Complaints have been pouring in continually on city smoke inspector, Edward S. Gundel, from residential and business sections alike in regard to probable causes and possible remedies of the darkened conditions which exist in cloudy formations, giving promise of wresting the "Smoky City" title from Pittsburgh unless the situation is remedied.

Because of the summer weather and the consequent recess period of the home furnaces, no blame can be shifted to the residential section—but these districts are the chief sufferers. As for an immediate clean-up process, there is practically no device or chemical available that can eliminate the smoke entirely from a bustling city of railroads, steam boats and active manufacturing plants that are in full operation most of the year.

Railroads Cooperate
Inspector Gundel explained the railroad's cooperation in one phase of the case. The railroad, he said, restricts train crews from permitting their iron steeds to belch black smoke in the city limits under penalty of suspension or eventual discharge if the fireman persists in disobeying the company's order.

Investigation has disclosed that the soot nuisance in Harrisburg is caused principally by plants burning pulverized soft coal. The ashes of such fuel are capable of traveling long distances by maintaining a "low ceiling" and the absence of a stiff breeze is likely to prolong the smoky conditions indefinitely.

The Pennsylvania Light and Power Company, extensive consumer of coal in its South Harrisburg plant, has taken a forward step toward solving the problem and has appropriated $35,000 to install an eliminator on the huge smoke stack of the plant.

Tentative plans for electrification of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation plants south of Harrisburg may, in time, correct any smoke settlement from drifting into the capital city when the real "smoky period" of the winter months arrives. Other electrical appliances being installed in the manufacturing plants, railroads and industrial concerns should gradually reduce the complaints to a minimum and, relieve the situation entirely.

However, until that time arrives, no one seems to be able to offer a practical remedy and public spirited citizens are doing their best to keep the beautiful parks clean streets and awe-inspiring buildings may be buried under a cloud of gritty, sooty smoke.

EDISON WINNER IS VERY MODEST

One of the most distinguished citizens found his examination paper worth a 92 grading, making it possible for him to study at any college he wishes as Thomas Edison's protégé, with all expenses paid for four years.

He has chosen Massachusetts Tech and hopes to enter this fall, specializing in electrical engineering.

He'll never get through telling the fellows back home all about it.

Willow doesn't take unto himself all the credit for his prodigious store of knowledge. He said:

"I guess my family background helped a lot," and added, smiling, "I've got a pretty good family."

They are his father, S. Arthur Huston, Episcopal bishop of western Washington; his mother, his brother, John, five, and sister, Anne, eight.

Willow answered questions with dignity and composure in spite of the fatigue of the strenuous past few days, in spite of the excitement of becoming the most honored boy in the United States.

Did he think the test a fair one? He answered sagely:

"Yes, it seemed a fair test, but a hard one."

DR. SNOOK POSED AS SALT SALESMAN DECLARES WITNESS

She declared that Miss Hix "Looked like a country girl," adding:

"Her dress was a good length and not short. It covered the knees well. She was neatly dressed."

"Did you ever find any liquor in their room?"

"No, I did not."

Mrs. Smalley testified that "Howard Snook" agreed to pay her $4 a week for the "Love Nest." At first the "Nest" was on the third floor. Then Snook had it changed to the first floor and finally to the second floor.

Snook wanted her to be sure the room was "Nice and Clean" on Saturday. One Saturday while cleaning the room, she met Miss Hix.

"She smiled at me," the witness related, "and in reply to a question from me said 'I am Mrs. Snook.'"

Mrs. Smalley said she gave Snook two keys to the room. She identified one of them which was introduced as evidence by the State.

She testified that when she saw Snook's picture in the paper after the slaying of Miss Hix she called the police and went with them to the county jail. There she faced Snook.

She then related how Snook told her, in the presence of police that Miss Hix was the "Wife" who had occupied the "Love Nest." Mrs. Smalley said that while cleaning the room she saw a pair of pajamas, a traveling bag, a powder box, two pairs of slippers and two tooth brushes.

On cross examination the witness insisted she had never seen any liquor in the room, nor had she seen any evidence that sandwiches had been eaten there.

Sex-Inciting Drugs
Mrs. Smalley seemed relieved when she was excused and Dr. Oscar W. Brumley, professor of veterinary surgery, Ohio State University, was called to the stand. He had been a member of the faculty for thirty-one years and was Dr. Snook's superior at the University.

Dr. Brumley was shown two bottles of supposedly sex-inciting drugs. The witness identified the bottles as having been found by police officers in his presence—one bottle in Snook's office and the other in the drug room of the laboratory.

The State is seeking to prove that Snook administered drugs to Miss Hix.

"What type of a girl was Miss Hix?" Dr. Brumley was asked by the defense.

"She was a modest, refined, retiring girl," he replied.

The witness said Dr. Snook used the drugs in his lectures in teaching medicine. Asked if, when professors came to him for drugs, they had to tell him why they wanted them, the witness replied:

"In some cases, but not always."

In dismissing the witness the defense asked that he keep himself in readiness for recall to the stand.

Ate Drug Laden Sandwich
COURTROOM, Columbus, O., Aug. 3.—Theora Hix, slain Ohio State University co-ed, ate a drug-laden sandwich shortly before her death, it was testified today at the trial of Dr. James H. Snook for first degree murder.

Chemist Charles F. Long testified analysis of the girl's stomach disclosed that she had eaten a beef sandwich which contained a sex-exciting drug, a mixture of two substances.

(The State is trying to prove that Snook gave Miss Hix the sandwich on the night of June 13 last and that when she repulsed him he killed her.)

Dr. Snook, reclining in his gaudy beach chair, heard this testimony with perfect equanimity. He was just as unconcerned when some of his "hidden past" was bared by a woman witness and when a member of the faculty of the University of Ohio appeared as a state witness against him.

The high-light developments of today's session of the trial were:

1.—Chemist Long's testimony that Theora had eaten the drug-laden sandwich; that he found a strand of hair on one of Snook's gloves; that matched Miss Hix's hair under microscopic examination; and that the stains on a hammer shown to the jury were "human blood."

2.—Revelation by Mrs. Margaret Smalley, who rented a "love nest" to Dr. Snook, that when the disgraced college professor first came to see her he posed as "Howard Snook, the salt salesman" and demonstrated of New York City.

3.—Appearance on the stand of Dr. Snook's former "boss," Dr. Oscar W. Brumley, professor of veterinary surgery of Ohio State University. He testified that Snook had access to drugs and also that on one occasion he had warned Miss Hix not to go automobile riding with any one in his department. He described Theora as "a modest, refined, retiring type of girl."

Judge Henry L. Scarlet adjourned court at 12:30 this afternoon until Monday. Dr. Snook, seemingly much improved physically, was taken back over "the Bridge of Sighs" to his cell in the county jail. His condition may be so improved by Monday that he will not need his orange, green and black beach chair in court.

COLUMBUS, O., August 3.—Except for her "Affair" with Dr. James H. Snook, which had such tragic consequences, no proof has yet been adduced at the Snook trial to show that other men figured prominently or romantically in the life of Miss Theora Hix, slain Ohio State University co-ed. She evidently was not so very promiscuous.

On the face of the evidence so far disclosed, Theora was not "The bad girl of the Campus." The defense would like to paint her before the jury in their efforts to save Snook from the "Hot Seat."

"Dirt, not yet Revealed"
Of course, all the "dirt" concerning the private life of Theora Hix has not come out yet. And incidentally, in this connection, the brilliant young prosecutor, "Handsome Jack" Chester, announced today that for every handful of "dirt" the defense casts at the dead Theora he will peg shovelfuls at the sinistrous Mr. Snook, the philanthropic married man who was old enough to be her father.

Now and then, as this trial unwinds, the case has the mention of another man in her life. One Marlon T. Meyers, former instructor in farm crops at the University and a friend of Snook's. But she knew Snook before she became acquainted with Meyers and Snook knew her well enough to set up a "Love Nest" for her, but there is no record of Meyers' friendship having developed to that extent.

Prof. Melvin T. Hix, the slain girl's elderly father, now heartbroken over the tragedy, assured international news service that until his daughter met Snook some three and one half years ago she always confided in her "Dad" in her letters to him, when he was home and in early days at Ohio State but after the met Snook her father detected a change in the tone of her communications.

It will be interesting to see just what kind of a picture the jury does get of this girl. On the prosecutor's table in court is a photograph of the girl, a new one recently obtained. It shows Theora to be a very nice looking, refined young woman with an aristocratic tilt to her chin and obviously intelligent. The prosecutor tried to introduce this photograph as evidence but it was ruled out after objections on the part of the defense which maintained that the identity of the girl was not issue. However, two other pictures which might give the jury a different impression were admitted. They showed the girl, lying dead near the title range "Lovers' Lane" just outside the city, her head bashed with a hammer and her throat slit.

Only one witness has come forward who really knew much about Theora. This witness was her former chum and roommate, Miss Alice Bustin, a medical student at the university. They lived together in a little apartment just off the campus. Try as they might, the defense could not trap Alice into saying anything against Theora.

Local Boys On Way Home From Training Camp

Majority Of Lawrence County
Boys Will Arrive Home
Tomorrow From Washington

PAST WEEK HAS BEEN
MOST STRENUOUS ONE

FORT WASHINGTON, Md., Aug. 3.—At 11:30 this morning, the bulk of the Lawrence county boys who have been spending the past month at the C. M. T. C. camp here, returned home, via the Pennsylvania R. R., after a month of strenuous activity.

They are traveling on a special train to Pittsburgh which will carry the Western Pennsylvania boys who have been in the local camp. Many of them will be met by the folks at home in the family "crock." Quite a few of them are planning little side trips before returning.

Anthony "Curly" Cassella and Anthony Moskal are planning to "hitch-hike" to New York City to visit some friends. From there they will go to New Haven, Conn. where they will visit Anthony Cassella's brother. Financing of the trip has been left to Tony Moskal, as he had established a flourishing barber trade while at camp.

Frank Bablarz of 1304 Pennsylvania avenue, New Castle, arrived here Thursday morning to visit his friends. He had attended the Fort Washington camp for the two preceding years, but was unable to get away this summer. His friends greeted him noisily.

On Wednesday, the entire battalion made a trip to Washington where they visited President Hoover, transportation being provided on the U. S. Navy tugs, Teumessah and Mendota and the army boat, General Rucker.

After landing at the municipal pier at 12th street, they marched in a remaining mile and a half to the White House. The battalion gave a fine demonstration of marching, and many along the way thought it was the regulars of the 12th Infantry.

Upon arriving at the executive mansion, they were greeted by a host of photographers. Parade formation was formed and the president was given a salute by the entire battalion, which the band played "Hail to the Chief."

Afterwards, the battalion marched down Pennsylvania avenue to the Fox theater where they were the guests of the Fox Film corporation. During the vaudeville acts, mess call was sounded and Richard Greiner, who was half asleep, almost jumped over the balcony. After the performance, they were marched back to the municipal wharf where they were served with sandwiches and lemonade.

During the afternoon, the C. M. T. C. band gave a program over the National Broadcasting network. Fred Blaha, Joe Thompson, of the West Side, and Rich Wallace of the Harbor are members of the band.

In order to get a commission upon graduating from the Blue course, the Whites must enlist in the reserves for one year.

The following Whites from New Castle have enlisted as reserve officers: Charles Clark, Oren McFarland, Fred Blaha and Francis Tinsley.

down. And the other night at a boxing show he tried to make everybody else stand aside so that he could see because he wanted to remain sitting. He evidently came to Russia because he thought communism would allow him vent for his peculiarities.

Strange anomaly! This communistic system which is supposed to bury the individual in an undifferentiated whole, has given rise to some of the strongest individual characters I have ever met. Here is the veteran of the "Red Terror" for example. His is a thrilling unique story. He is a little, fawn eyed, soft spoken, blond-haired man. He was a tailor in London before the Revolution. His name was Peters in English; I probably could spell his Lettish name, for he was born in what is now Latvia. One day this mild-mannered little tailor was passing the Tower of London. He saw beside the grim wall a group of people kneeling, praying and weeping. He asked why they were sorrowing. They replied that the Irish Patriot, Sir Roger Casement, was at that moment being executed within the walls of the Tower. "A patriot!" exclaimed Peters to himself. "And I claim to be a patriot!"

What am I doing here among the flesh pots of England when my compatriots are dying over in Russia? So he deliberately went back to Russia to share their sacrifices, expecting to give his life for the revolutionary cause. He was so zealous that he soon was made the Head of the Cheka, the "Red Terror." He himself caused the death of more than twelve thousand, so he calmly asserted. One day when he signed without a quaver the death warrant of over eight hundred of the nobility, so fierce were the fires of his fanatical allegiance to the "Cause" that this soft-spoken little man hesitated at nothing which he felt the exigencies of the crisis demanded.

Here is another man who was devoted to communism, but who disagreed violently with Lenin's government. He was thrown into prison where his body was eaten with vermin and his clothes rotted off his back in the damp, musty cell, and it was a question whether he could kill enough rats before they could kill him. And finally when he was released, he came forth as a flaming devotee of communism, as when he was first imprisoned.

Fellow Rotarian: We will have a very interesting speaker tell us about Egypt and the Sudan. Dr. Joe Maxwell has practiced medicine throughout the Sudan for the last eight years and has been a big game hunter throughout that interesting country. He is brought before us through the efforts of the International Service Committee and the courtesy of Prexy Wallace.

Regarding the new union station for New Castle, let us quote from the president of the Kiwanis International:

"We ought, as a service organization, always to look ourselves squarely in the face. The greatest indictment against service clubs today is the failure on the part of the individual member, in a greater or lesser degree, to appreciate his own responsibility."

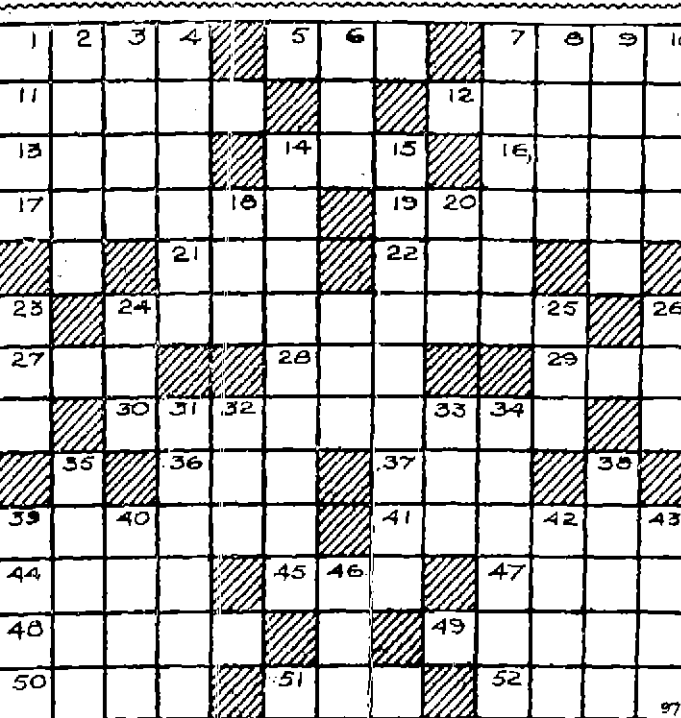

"Every member should prize his membership with the kind of pride that prompts him to do some work. My opinion is that no man is big enough to belong to a service organization unless he is willing to give some time and energy and some of his heart to it," he said.

Doc Campbell attended Meadville Rotary. Prexy Wallace at New Wilmington. Keith McAfee at Cambridge, Ohio. Al Chilton, at Butler Rotary. A Union Station For New Castle.

THE INVADERS

The three comrades, Dawdler, Peter and Whizz, hadn't gone very far before they came upon a dreadful scene. All over the floor of the entrance hall lay the bodies of bees who had fought bravely for their queen and country and lost their own lives in a vain effort to crush the invaders.

Workers were flying back and forth in wild confusion and uttering hopeless cries. Slowly but surely crawling into the hive—in fact his great fat body was already half way through the door—was a great, black, slimy snail. Close behind his shell Peter could glimpse the fat slimy bodies of his two companions.

The horns of the three trembled with greed for the sweet honey on which they so soon expected to feast. The poor bees could do little to stop their progress, for whenever the frightened, furious workers swooped down to sting them, the snails, quick as greased lightning, drew their fat bodies back into their shells and the stings, sharp as they were, did not hurt them.

It was no wonder that Berillie was in a tumult. Peter was trying to think of some plan whereby the queen, who had been so kind to him, could be rescued from the cruel enemy, when suddenly his arm hit against something hard in his pocket. Quickly he put in his hand and drew out an old penknife which, and in spite of his fall, had stuck by him, and, wonderful to relate, had shrunk to the size of a knife a few two-legs like himself could carry. A bright idea flashed into Peter's mind.

"I have it," he shouted and hit the astonished Dawdler so hard upon the back that The Dude's hat fell to the floor.

"Have what?" grunted the indignant Dawdler.

"A plan," shouted Peter. "A plan to save the queen and the hive and the honey. I am going to kill that old snail. Come along with me and watch how I do it."

"I can't imagine what in the world you can be up to," muttered Dawdler, "but whatever it may be, I might as well be in on it, anyhow."

Dawdler picked his hat up from the floor, set it on his head, swung his tiny cane to clear a passageway through the swarm of distracted bees, and off the three comrades started.

Some of the bees, upon seeing Peter marching straight in the direction of their enemy, were not quite sure whether he advanced as friend or foe, and made as though to stop him. But when they realized that 'twas none other than Dawdler himself who was aiding the boy to reach the front, they drew back to watch the proceedings.

Next, "To the Rescue."

Dr. S. C. Gamble To Speak On Sunday

Former Local Pastor To Speak At New Wilmington Missionary Conference

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Aug. 3.—"The Radiance of a Divine Passion" was the subject of the sermon preached to the delegates at the opening meeting of the New Wilmington Missionary conference held in the tabernacle here yesterday.

Dr. Pollock of Denver, Col., delivered this inspiring message on the opening night of a week of religious meetings.

This evening the main meeting in the tabernacle will be given over to the "Missionary Night" activity. This program will bring to the delegates a series of talks from different missionaries connected with different fields.

India, Abyssinia, Egypt, and the Sudan will be discussed in the light of the Mission activity being supported in these several countries.

Following the main meeting this evening, the conference people will unite with the alumni and friends of Westminster college in the celebration of Westminster night. This reception will be held on the lawn of the Thompson House, college dormitory, and many alumni of the Blue and White Institution are expected to attend.

The first day of the conference showed a very good attendance and promised to make the convention much more successful than last year. The delegates are housed in the college dormitories and use the playing floor of the college gymnasium as a dining room.

Tomorrow the main speakers will be Dr. S. C. Gamble of Butler and Dr. William Hiram Poulkes. Meetings will be held in both the tabernacle and the local United Presbyterian church.

Beside the activity occasioned by the laying of sidewalks on the campus, Westminster college is also taking advantage of the vacation period to install a new drainage system around the Science hall. This work is in the process of completion now.

Present Pageant Of Daniel Boone At Camp Phillips

Local Boy Scouts Present Pageant "Daniel Boone," At Camp Friday

Hundreds of parents and friends of the boys attended the picturesque pageant of "Daniel Boone" that was presented as the crowning feature of the third period at Camp Phillips.

The pageant began promptly at 8:45 Friday evening when assembly was sounded by Bugler Bill Woodworth.

Harry J. Ziegler, director of the pageant told the story of the incident in the life of Dan Boone upon which the action was portrayed and the pioneers and Indians appeared on the scene.

The Indians were bedecked in full war regalia and the pioneers in the natural dress of the period they represented.

The pioneers with Mac Leslie as Dan Boone were at work at a salt lick near the stockade of Boonesboro when they were surprised and captured by a group of Indians from an encampment nearby. Threatened with torture and death, and offered bribes to reveal the location of the stockade, Boone and his companions escaped when the attention of the Indians was drawn to the sound of rifle fire nearby. The Indians trailed the escaped pioneers to the stockade and sent up a flaming arrow as a signal for the tribe to attack. A war dance and the attack followed. The pioneers proved victorious, kill most of the Indians, and follow the remainder to their camp and burn their tepees.

Baldy Watson, assistant swimming director, acted as chieftain and leader of the Indians who were Walter Coss, Woodrow Brown, Bob Brown, Tony Martin, Jack Ziegler, Junior Barnes, Bill Bayers, George Phillips, Bob Brown, Harold Morrison, Bob Morrison, Bob Dyer, Bob Wood, Henry Dyer, Bill Woodworth, Bill Offutt, Blair Potts, Ed Fields, and Bill Nunn.

The pioneers were Mac Leslie, Herb Christianman, Ted Ropp, Tom Rambo, Dan Ryan and Earl Timblin.

The pageant closed a camping period that surpassed in achievement all of the work done at camp this summer. More than 1000 were present, more scalps awarded and the achievement emblem was earned by ten boys. This is the camp's highest honor and was awarded at the color ceremony which took place just before the start of the pageant. Camp Director Norton congratulated the boys of the camp on the excellence of their work during the past two weeks.

Boys who received the emblem were Bill Offutt, Bill Leitch, Bob Allen, William Grounnes, Henry Dyer, Blair Potts, Dan Ryan, Bob Bayers, and Herb McLure. Scalp awards were made to Wayseekers, Bill Bush, Fred Cochran, Junior Whiteman and Don Parkhill, Pathfinders, Ed Rockwell, Henry Hoback, Bob Wood, Runner, Jim Daily, George Phillips, Tony Martin, Hunter, Earl Timblin, Sagamore, Bob Morrison, Sachem, Harold Morrison, Medicine Man, Herb Boyd.

The fourth and final scout camp period begins on Monday morning. There will be no younger boys in camp during this period although non-scouts who are 12 years of age are eligible. A large registration is anticipated and it is all probability the last period will exceed the others in numbers. Scouts who wish to have their boxes and blankets hauled to camp must be in front of the Green building on Monday morning at 10:00.

Fellow Rotarian: We will have a very interesting speaker tell us about Egypt and the Sudan. Dr. Joe Maxwell has practiced medicine throughout the Sudan for the last eight years and has been a big game hunter throughout that interesting country. He is brought before us through the efforts of the International Service Committee and the courtesy of Prexy Wallace.

Regarding the new union station for New Castle, let us quote from the president of the Kiwanis International:

"We ought, as a service organization, always to look ourselves squarely in the face. The greatest indictment against service clubs today is the failure on the part of the individual member, in a greater or lesser degree, to appreciate his own responsibility."

"Every member should prize his membership with the kind of pride that prompts him to do some work. My opinion is that no man is big enough to belong to a service organization unless he is willing to give some time and energy and some of his heart to it," he said.

ABE MARTIN On Vacation Disturbances

THE SLEEVE LENGTH ORDEAL

When you step in to buy a new lawn mower, or a plug hat, just like your old one, don't be surprised to find a strange salesman on the job, for this is the vacation season. The annual vacation has become a recognized institution by all employers, and the months, selected for the vacation period are July and August, months when business lags and drops off. So many of us have our favorite bankers, haberdashery clerks, service station mechanics, letter carriers, waitresses, that the vacation shakeup often balls us up, an inconvenience in lots of ways. The only clerk in town that knows our sleeve length is liable to be in the Yellowstone park, or the waitress that knows how we want our carrots may be far out at sea, while our accommodatin' and indispensable But worst of all, the only mechanic who knows just how to take the rattle out of our car doors is just as liable as not to be sittin' around in Windsor, Canada. After a clerk learns our pajama size, an' knows we won't stand fer pink, an' knows better'n to show us a $4 cravat, or call us "brother," we like to stick to him. I like a clerk that don't tell me the sleeve length of $1.35 shirt will be just right after it's washed. "Goody, goody," said Tull Binkley, when he heard that the only clerk in town who knew his sock size was back from Nice. Vacations are good for one thing—they show up "indispensable" people. There's wuz a time when Elmer Lark wuz the whole thing at the Monarch 5 & 10. He never got a vacation. The boss couldn't spare him. His employer leaned on him an' often gave him a box o' cigars, or a valuable stick pin, or a pat on the back, or a dollar raise. Sometimes he'd have him at his home fer dinner. Then one mornin' when Elmer wuz hurryin' to be at the store by 7 o'clock he took the right o' way over a dry cleaner's truck an' wuz flat on his back fer seven weeks. Well, the store went right along. Elmer is still at the store, but he presides over the brewer's counter, an' sells rubber siphons, bottle caps, strainers, etc., gits off without pay when he wants to, an' has forgotten how the boss looks. So it goes. Nobuddy gits so useful any more that they can't be spared. Right now our jail is overflowin' with hijackers, murderers, forgers, bandits an' bootleggers, waitin' to be tried while the taxpayers of the county pay their board, an' Judge Pusey is on a two months' vacation in Alaska. O' course people kin become invaluable, an' even essential, but nobuddy ever yit reached the point where they wuz indispensable. The thing to do is to borrow what money you'll need, git your car gone over an' tightened up, stock up, an' git your sock size an' sleeve length from your favorite haberdasher before the vacation season begins an' you'll never notice it.

What Good Credit Means to the Family

An open letter to the Women of New Castle, Pa.

We have been talking to the people of this community, in this space, for a number of months, about the value of keeping their credit good.

We know that these little sermons (if we may call them such) have had a good influence, because a markedly higher percentage of people are paying their bills on or before the 10th of the month than was true at the time we started these advertisements.

But there is a great deal still to be accomplished and we are going to make this special appeal now to the WOMEN.

It is your influence that makes the home what it is. Exert it now in behalf of the prompt payment of the bills that are owing.

Being "square" with the world means a lot to you. It means, happiness, rest for your nerves, and the "Good Standing" of your family in the community.

Protect your credit and it will protect you.

State Grangers Will Present Girls Dormitory

Splendid Gift of Agriculturalists To State College To Be Dedicated August 14

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Aug. 3.—What is said to be the greatest contribution ever made by any grange will be dedicated on the campus of the Pennsylvania State College on August 14 when the Pennsylvania State Grange formally dedicates its magnificent gift to the college, the Grange Memorial Dormitory for Girls.

Over 1,000 invitations to the dedication have gone to every grange organization in Pennsylvania. A crowd in excess of that figure is expected for the dedication comes during the annual convention of grange lecturers from six states.

It was a desire to show its appreciation of the college service to the agriculture of Pennsylvania that prompted the state grange at its 1922 meeting to pass resolutions to erect a memorial building at State College. The result is a substantial contribution to the $250,000 building that will be the largest dormitory at the college and the head house of a wooded group of women's dorms on the east campus. It stands opposite the hospital built by the potato growers of Pennsylvania; also in appreciation of college aid to their industry. Dedication of the hospital will come during the week following the ceremony by the Grangers.

Presentation of the Grange gift will be by E. B. Dorsett of Mansfield, master of the State Grange and the dedicatory address will be by the president of the college Dr. Ralph D. Heitzel.

Good Old Days Do Not Appeal To Nonogenarian

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—This city lays claim to the most modernistic nonogenarian in the country, a great-grandmother who neither pines for the "good old days" or believes the present generation is headed for the sky.

"Grandmother" Carmichael, nearly 95, grinned good-naturedly. A newspaperman who heard of her ultra-modern ideas and came to inquire, "Aren't you afraid?" one of the reporters had asked rather vaguely, as though feeling that the aged lady must have something to fear after all these years.

"I'm not afraid of the devil," responded Mrs. Carmichael, patting the head of one of her 22 great grandchildren. Here are some of her beliefs:

She isn't sure that it's naughty for girls to smoke.

She doesn't feel that the present generation is particularly wicked or unusually novel in its vices.

She is not astonished at the vaunted advances of science and understands them.

Mrs. Carmichael remembers the days of the Civil War and remembers Admiral John L. Worden who was her cousin. Admiral Worden commanded the "Monitor," first of the ironclad fighting vessels.

Mrs. Carmichael remembers that too, too, too, she surprised when she reads of the steel fighting ships of the air.

Bible Thought For Today

The Great Commandment—Master, which is the great commandment in the law? Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and greatest commandment. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.—Matthew 22:36, 37, 38, 39, 40.

Prayer: "More love to Thee, O Christ, More love to Thee."

BALLAD OF A QUIET COUNTRY PLACE

I have grown used to the motor horn. Squeaky wagons disturb me not. The milk boy banging the gate at dawn. Never disturbs me on my cot. Factory whistles I never hear. I can sleep through hammers ring. But out in the calm of the country

A crowing cock is a fearsome thing!

In the noisy city where I was born I seldom wake to a pistol shot. The thoughtless neighbor who mows his lawn

May bother me once but he's soon forgot.

I have grown used to the engineer. With his heavy hand on the whistle string. But at country quiet I wake to sneer: A crowing cock is a fearsome thing!

Here I am, haggard and pale and worn. With eyelids heavy and temples hot. Tossing about like a man forlorn. In a so-called quiet, secluded spot. Muttering: "Bird, you're a racketeer! Yours is a neck that I'd like to wring."

To a city man with an untrained ear A crowing cock is a fearsome thing!

LENVOI

Prince, I can sleep through all noises queer. I am not troubled though fire bells ring. But out in the calm of the country

A crowing cock is a fearsome thing! (Copyright, 1928, Edgar A. Guest)

The layman's object to blank verse is that you must be a little queer to know whether it's good or not.

Seventeen In Campbell Raid Are Arraigned

Bond From $1,500 To $3,000 Placed On Those Charged With Liquor Violations

(International News Service) CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—Seventeen of the 43 men arrested in Deputy Prohibition Administrator John E. Wright's smashing raid on Campbell, Youngstown's so-called "underworld district", Thursday night, were arraigned before United States Commissioner H. K. Kochrane here Friday. Bail for the prisoners, all of whom are charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, was set in varying amounts from $1,500 to $3,000. The cases were set for August 12.

Rural Mail Boxes Must Be Official

All Boxes Replaced Now Must Be Official No. 2 Size, Says Postmaster

"All replacements of mail boxes in the rural districts over established routes or new routes must be made with the official No. 2 box."

This is the statement of Postmaster Edwin Crawford and also a warning to all rural box owners who are planning to erect new mail receptacles.

The new regulation concerning the size of mail boxes to be erected was made July 1, states the postmaster, and announcement was made concerning it.

However, several persons have recently erected new boxes which were not the official No. 2 size.

The warning is that all persons should be sure they are buying No. 2 boxes, which are large enough to hold parcel post packages.

Boxes erected before July 1, regardless of size, are legal, but those replaced since that time must be the official size.

Y. Camp Girls Have Over Night Hike

Approximately thirty-six girls left the East Brook camp Thursday evening at 7 o'clock. Two miles were traversed until the girls came to a suitable spot to camp for the night. After beds were made and wood was gathered and cats put away the girls settled down for the night. Prior to this watches for the night had been set.

First watch the Dom sister; second watch, Rosemary May and Alice Thelan; third watch, Peg Fisher and Mary Adelaide Barry. Peg Fisher, Mary Adelaide Barry, Dot McAdam and Alice Thelan were to patrol all night but one. By one the girls fell asleep until Peg Fisher was the only one to watch through the night from 11 p. m. until 7 a. m.

After a breakfast the girls started campward marking the finish of the hike. All happy but tired.

Missionaries in a hungry land must find it hard to explain why the folks back home are worried about a surplus.

During the World War Mr. Kingsbury was a member of the Sixth Marines and during his service with them was severely gassed when he took off his gas mask to better attend the wounded. For this he was given the Distinguished Cross.

The new book is entitled "The American Expeditionary Forces" and is a careful review of the A. E. F. by the press, which has been written by General Harbord. Mr. Kingsbury has been in Dallas, Tex., for several years, but has been transferred to Boston, Mass., as the assistant manager of the American Solvay Company.

Police Head In Pittsburgh Gets Bombing Threat

Police Inspector Faulkner, Asked To Lay Off Communists Or Home Will Be Bombed

POLICE ACTIVE AGAINST REDS

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Aug. 3.—A bomb threat against him, if he should make any more arrests of communist sympathizers, had been turned over to post office authorities by Police Inspector Charles Faulkner. The note was written on fine paper and by an excellent penman, the inspector said, and was mailed at a North Side box yesterday. It read:
"Notice: Please don't arrest these speakers from the park any more or I will blow up your home—also the police station. From International Organization Corporation."
Faulkner termed the note "the work of a crank," and said he was not worried about the threatened bombings. Pat Devine, district organizer for the Communist party, called the threat a "provocative act" and doubted its authenticity.
Police Are Active
It was under the direction of Inspector Faulkner that more than 100 police raided a Communist red day meeting on Thursday night and arrested 28 persons, including three women. All were given hearings yesterday and four announced they would go to jail rather than pay a fine of $10 or 10 days assessed against them. The rest were held over when some doubt was raised as to whether they had been notified that Police Commissioner Walsh had revoked a permit for the meeting. The city solicitor was asked for an opinion as to legality of the police raid.
Communists alleged that the notice given the janitor of the Communist headquarters had not been communicated to the persons who were sponsoring and attending the meeting.

A large crowd of members attended the recent meeting of the Star of Wales Lodge, No. 60 True Ivories of America. The members expressed their opinions on the communications from the different lodges. Word has been received in this city, of the death of Squire David E. Evans, at his home in Blossburg, Pa., July 26, after many weeks of illness. Squire Evans was well known in New Castle, having visited many times with Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Powell of Edison avenue. Squire Evans and Benjamin Powell came to the United States together from the same town in Wales and were great friends.
The news of the death of Prof. George Marks Evans came as a shock to his friends in New Castle. Prof. Evans lived here for many years and was very well known in the musical circles. He was also very prominent at the Bistedford which was held at Seranton last month.
Word has been received from Thomas Edwards of California. Mr. Edwards stated that Miss Isabelle Thomas of New Castle, and her aunt, Mrs. Hastings visited at the Edwards home in California. Miss Thomas left New Castle with her aunt several weeks ago, with the intention of staying in California twelve months. But, it is understood, she has changed her plans and will return in a shorter time.
Mrs. Mary Edmunds, and her daughter, Mabel, will leave Saturday, for a trip in the Great Lakes districts. Mrs. Edmunds and her daughter have been in poor health for some time, and it is thought the trip will prove beneficial.
George Loudon, formerly employed as foreman in the blacksmith shop at the Pennsylvania Engineering Works, sailed to Scotland on the same ship the New Castle Boy Scouts were on. William H. Wheeler, father of one of the Scouts, met Mr. Loudon and they had a long chat. Mr. Loudon was proud of the fact he was sailing on the boat that was carrying the Boy Scouts over to England.
Harold A. Good, who has been engaged in the real estate business in this city for the past 12 years, with offices in the Lawrence Savings and Trust Co., has moved to the plant of the New Castle Lumber and Construction Company, where he will greatly expand his activities. In addition to the buying and selling of real estate, Mr. Good expects to engage in the building business and will have a much larger field in his new location.

Will Reorganize Cathedral Drive After Short Rest

Campaigners Raise Total To $355,500 At Report Meeting Last Night

OUTSIDE ZONES ARE WELL REPRESENTED

Teams in the New Castle phase and chairman from the outside zones in the Cathedral reorganizing campaign were jubilant last evening when reports of subscriptions secured passed $355,000 at the last weekly report meeting of the summer.

No diminution of interest appeared on the part of the workers in spite of the unusual prolongation of the campaign into the vacation period, and the increase of subscriptions since the last report two weeks ago was $61,600.

Plans for the continuation of the campaign were part of the meetings program. Zone committees will continue their work throughout the summer, together with a recess committee which will continue to function in New Castle. In September a new team organization will be created for a new intensive effort in this city.

The campaign will be continued until the necessary goal of a million dollars is reached, this sum being sufficient to pay all debts of the organization and raise the second mortgage with interest. The purpose of the organization to carry on to success was expressed on behalf of the Cathedral corporation by President Robert M. White and other members of the board. James Mead spoke for the captains; A. R. Mornes for the team workers.

By invitation of S. Reed McGowan, chairman of the campaign in New Castle, C. W. Herman Hess, colonel of the first regiment, president, introducing the numerous out-of-town visitors and the leaders of the local campaign.

Among representatives from the zones were Charles Weitz, Archie A. Shoup, F. D. Campbell and D. Clinton McKee from Bessemer, the first zone to reach its quota in the campaign; David Robertson of East Brady, John A. Walker and Norman J. Fair, West Middlesex; William J. Bell, William Hoffman and Harry Shillito, Beaver Falls; George E. Beltsch, New Brighton; Charles F. Beltsch, Pittsburgh; Jesse R. McElhoney and Joseph Martin, Jamestown; William H. Snyder, Sharpsville; Charles Morrow and Charles L. Repman, Wampum; Otis L. Gilmore and Carl C. Kennedy, Grove City; John H. Ammon, Beaver; Perouse A. Ferner and E. Merle Hamsher, Midland.

The out-of-town visitors were present as a demonstration of their interest in the New Castle phase of the campaign, as well as to make reports for their own zones. Representatives of these outlying regions spoke in the same terms as those in New Castle as to their purpose to carry the campaign to a successful finish.

The active campaign of the reorganizing of the Scottish Rite Cathedral has now been under way for eight weeks, the total of $355,500 subscriptions reported to date representing an average of somewhat over $44,000 a week. It is expected that activities during August will bring the total to half a million dollars, with the fall phase of the campaign aimed at a second half million.

Sutton To Remain As Manager Of New Oil Organization

Taken Over Sutton Co.

G. W. SUTTON

Purchase of the Sutton Gasoline Co. by the Tidewater Oil Sales Corporation, was confirmed today by G. W. Sutton, head of the Sutton Company, who will remain in New Castle as manager for the Tidewater organization. While no price has been mentioned, it is understood the consideration was around $200,000.

The Sutton Gasoline Company has been operating bulk and service stations in Butler, Lawrence, and Beaver County, disposing only of their interests in this district. The Sutton company entered the petroleum market in Butler in 1909, expanding their business in 1922 to include the New Castle district, and erecting a bulk plant at East New Castle. In 1924, their holdings were further increased when they established a plant in Beaver county, and at the present time is one of the largest independent distributors in Western Pennsylvania.

In 1926, four large service stations were built in New Castle, with the aim of giving the best possible service to the motoring public. Lubrication, car washing, and the repair departments were established at each station, the business having been successful from the start.

The Sutton Company adopted Tidewater products in the fall of 1928 and the business increased with the immediate acceptance of these products by the motoring public.

The entire Sutton organization will continue with the new management, and efforts will be made to continue the same excellent service which has been given in the past.

G. W. Sutton, who built and managed the business for the Sutton Gasoline Co. has been a resident of New Castle for the past four years, moving here from Butler. He will continue to maintain his residence in this city.

The Story Of The World War
78—Italy Invaded, Roumania Joins The Allies

IN MAY, 1915, AN AUSTRIAN ARMY MADE A SUDDEN THRUST THROUGH THE MOUNTAINS INTO ITALY, WITH THE HOPE OF REACHING VICENZA AND CUTTING THE RAILWAY LINES SUPPLYING CADORNA'S ITALIAN ARMY ON THE ISONZO FRONT. ITALIAN TROOPS WERE SENT TO HEAD OFF THE INVADERS, BUT FOR A MONTH THE SITUATION CAUSED THE ALLIES GRAVE CONCERN.

IN JUNE, RUSSIA, PARTLY RECOVERED FROM HER TERRIBLE DEFEATS OF 1915, BUT STILL SADLY LACKING IN ARMS AND MUNITIONS, AGAIN ATTACKED AUSTRIA. A RUSSIAN ARMY UNDER GEN. BRUSILOV SWOOPED DOWN UPON GALICIA AND THE BUKOWINA, DRIVING THE AUSTRIANS BACK PELL-MELL AND AGAIN THREATENING LEMBERG.

AUSTRIA, FORCED TO EMPLOY ALL HER AVAILABLE FORCES IN DEFENCE OF HER EASTERN FRONTIER, WAS OBLIGED TO ABANDON HER OFFENSIVE AGAINST ITALY. RELIEVED OF AUSTRIAN PRESSURE, THE ITALIANS WERE ABLE TO RECOVER THE TERRITORY THEY HAD LOST AND TO ADVANCE EVEN FURTHER TOWARD TRIESTE, TAKING GORIZIA ON AUGUST 9, 1916.

FOR SOME TIME ROUMANIA HAD BEEN CONSIDERING ENTERING THE WAR ON THE SIDE OF THE ALLIES. ENCOURAGED BY THE RECENT RUSSIAN SUCCESSES, THE ROUMANIANS FINALLY CAST THEIR LOT WITH THE ENTENTE ON AUGUST 27, 1916.

CONTINUED MONDAY.

The other no-run, no-hit pitchers in the New Castle Church League "hall of fame," moved over last night, to make room for J. Ryan, the first Christian pitching ace, who turned in a perfect game against the Mahoning M. E. team, at the Scotland Lane field.

Ryan was master of the Seventh Warders in every inning and held them without the semblance of a hit or run. He fanned three men. The Christians gave Ryan fine support. H. Culbertson on the hill for Mahoning M. E. didn't fare quite so well, allowing nine hits good for seven runs, and was given ragged support.

Lightning Flash Dries Up Cistern

(International News Service)
INDIANAPOLIS, August 3.—Can a flash of lightning dry up a cistern containing 95 barrels of water?
Local weather bureau officials faced that question after Police Sergeant George R. Liese started to clean out his cistern and found that it was dry, although a test showed there were no leaks in it.

Lightning a few weeks ago struck Liese's house and witnesses said that there was a blinding flash, the whole back yard near the cistern appearing to be filled with a huge, hissing ball of fire.

Weather bureau officials said that cases of tornadoes sucking up open wells are on record, but that they never heard of lightning evaporating a cistern.

Young Bill Dickey Brings Joy To Gloomy Yanks

By JACK SORDS.
Sports Cartoonist, Writer for Central Press.
If the New York Yankees were rolling along to another pennant it would be the fourth consecutive one! This season, much would be written about young Bill Dickey, sensational yearling catcher who is "proving a great aid to Manager Miller Huggins in his desperate drive to overtake the fast-flying Athletics. But, as things are Dickey is rated just another find. This is Dickey's first full season in the big time and he appears to be the best looking first-year man in the American league. Not since Mickey Cochrane broke into the business with the Athletics several years ago has such a catching prospect made his appearance in the league.

As it is Dickey has it on Cochrane in the slugging department. Only recently Bill achieved the feat of making six hits, including three homers in six straight trips to the plate. A number of others have made six consecutive hits but only Ty Cobb the retired Georgian has gotten three homers in six consecutive hits.

Dickey has also proved that he can stand up against left-handed as well as right-handed pitching and that he has versatility in his clubbing, registering homers to every corner of the lot.

IT PAYS

It pays to go into detail when using the classified columns.

A Lawrence Co. farmer advertising farm produce failed to give the exact location of his place.

At least five people have tried to locate this farm without success, one of them having made three trips this week in an effort to find it. Doubtless others have had the same experience as the produce this man is offering is a real bargain. These sales would not have been lost had the advertiser spent 10c more for an additional line telling exactly where his farm is located.

Remember when advertising is pays to go into detail.
